Manju's Story

Meet Manju.

Manju is thirteen-years-old.

She lives in Nepal. Nepal is a country in Asia.

There were two earthquakes in Nepal in 2015.

Manju's home and her school were destroyed in these earthquakes.

This photo shows Manju cooking with her grandmother.

Manju has not been to her old school since the earthquakes.

Instead, Manju goes to a learning centre a few days a week.

This helps children who have no school to go to.

Manju has to cross a bridge on the way to the learning centre.

She said, “In the rainy season the water is so high no one can get across”.

Manju hopes to go to school every day in 2016.

She wants to be a good example to other girls.

She wants to be a journalist.

Why doesn't Manju go to school every day?
